

Rhyming Couplets Of My Love (1991)

You were my first; you'll be my last.
We'll make a future from our past.

Holding you always in my heart;
together even when apart.

My soul is yours, our lives we'll share.
I can't express how much I care.

You'll bring out the best in me;
I'll help you be all you can be.

My lips, my loins, were made for yours.
I'll only ever love you more.

When we're silent or when we speak,
the understanding is unique.

I ache to be your one true love,
with a blessing from above.

This bond we share, that no one knows,
will bring the circle to a close.

Lover now we seal our fate,
I can't deny you are my mate.

The Answer Came (1993)

When with uncertainty my mind was fraught,
might all my trials be for naught?
Would nothing come of what I wrought,
or loved, or lived, or ever thought?
The answer came I long had sought:
everything is as it ought!
